

Thanos

Thanos is a Titan and enemy of all superheros. He is melancholy, a brooding individual, Who is consumed with the concept of death, sought out personal power and increased his strength, by endowing himself with cybernetic implants. He became more powerful than any of his brethren.

Thanos possesses the superhuman physiology of all Eternals. This grants him superhuman strength, endurance, reflexes, and agility. His skin is nearly invulnerable, particularly against heat, cold, electricity, radiation, toxins, aging, and disease. He can survive indefinitely without food or water even before his "curse" from Death left him immortal, unable to die. His mind is also invulnerable to most forms of psychic attacks, Thanos can project a Sonic blast of energy as well as blasts of plasma/cosmic energy from his eyes and his right hand.

Thanos is a whopping six feet seven inches 985 pounds so his costume is huge. Thanos's outfit is made of mostly gold, body armour, silk, and other very fine quality fabrics. Other than that he doesn't have much more to his costume.

One of Thanos's many enemies is Galactia. Galactia is very powerful. Then of course there are all the Avengers and Captain Marvel. So, pretty much everyone is against him.

My overall opinion on him is that he is one of the most powerful villains in the Marvel universe. He also has many slaves that do his bidding. Thanos really is a crazy, amazing, super awesome, almost undefeatable, villain.

