

Local Hero

Jaime's backstory is very "interesting." When asked about his childhood he said, "He was born a poor, black child in Amarillo, Texas-his hometown." He grew up with a extremely dysfunctional mother who had been married five times. He was held at gunpoint by one of his drunk stepfathers. During high school, he was the only male cheerleader at Pulaski High School in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. After high school, he joined the Marine Corps. In the Marine Corps, he was an Infantry and Tactics instructor.

The dysfunction continues... While in the Marine Corps he perpetrated a "starter marriage" that ultimately ended to his relief. From that unholy union a daughter was born. After the Marine Corps Jaime worked for the United States Department of State and Vance International.

The End of Dysfunction... He knew Pam from back in high school days. They became reacquainted and he came to Wisconsin. Eventually, they would marry and have children. This april he will be married to Pam 21 years. He also has three smart and beautiful children. He works at Ascension Health Care as the Senior Technical Engineer.

He is my hero because he teaches me things and helps me do things. He also helps me when I need help. He taught me how to drive and shoot. He also gives me food, clothes, and water.

My opinion on my dad is that he is helpful and he is pretty interesting.
