

SHAZAM/Captain Marvel

Shazam/Captain Marvel is just a regular guy, but when he says “SHAZAM” he activates his powers. When he was a young boy named Billy Batson walked into a cave with the statues of Greek gods a wizard in the cave utters SHAZMA and gives him all the powers.

His costume contains gold boots, red jumpsuit with gold lightning bolt, gold and white cape, and gold rim on the cape. The history about the costumes of the DC Comics comic books is that to save money they only used blue, yellow, red, and black. Then they got money and started using a wide variety of colors.

Like most superheroes he doesn't have a huge weakness, but one of weaknesses is if his enemy tricks him into saying SHAZAM, he turns back to normal and they have a chance of beating him.

Captain Marvel's enemy is Black Adam. His costume is the same as Captain Marvel, but the red is black and the cape is black and gold. Black Adam reminds me of something related to science because of Black as in Black matter and Adam as in atoms.

His superpowers include speed, flight, power wisdom, and invulnerability. These powers are useful for combat with anyone. They also help with Mary Marvel and Marvel Jr.

My opinion of Captain Marvel is that he is a goofy superhero, but can fight crime when needed too. My dad told me about Captain Marvel and he said that he was interesting, but not the comic for him.
