

Green Arrow

Ollie Queen grew up in a penthouse, but was a very skilled archer. When he grew up he fought crime and was very rich. After Ollie's Museum of Native Americans Artifacts and History was burned down, he went down to Mesa, Arizona in search of his parents and some new Native Americans artifacts from a village near by. When searching for the natives he found Roy Harper (also known as Speedy) with the natives. He found that the natives thought him to be a very good archer and other useful skills. Soon Green Arrow learned that criminals followed him to Mesa. They were going to follow them to the native's artifacts and other riches. They stayed for a night, and that night natives leader was killed. The next morning the criminals struck the villages and Green Arrow and Speedy beat the criminals.

Green Arrow's superpowers are a bowman, agility, strength, and speed his get these powers from anyone he earned them by hard work. For a bowman, he is very good with a bow and is a very good shot. His strength is better than a regular man's strength. His agility can dodge and shoot from almost every position. For speed he is very fast. These powers come from hard work and determination.

His costume changed over time, but it has always been green. It has always had a hat or hood along with a quiver on his back. His felching on his arrows are green. Almost every part of his costume is green, but his bow that is black.

Ollie's worst or arch nemesis is his old constructor Merlyn. He is the same level archer or better. He is knows a lot of Green Arrow's moves. Merlyn has a secret arrow he uses some times; it is the trick arrow to confuse Green Arrow.

I think Green Arrow is a great super hero. He uses a bow. I like how he has strength, speed, and agility. I like how he helps a lot of people, especially the homeless. His costume is cool because his green cloak looks like scales, but it really doesn't have scales. Then I like how he has different arrows that he can use and his arch nemesis is an old boa constrictor.
