

Tener: to have

Tener (to have) is an important irregular verb.

Tener is usually followed by a noun.

The diagram is shaped like a house. The roof is a triangle containing the word "tener" in teal. The main body of the house is a rectangle divided into a 3x2 grid. Each cell in the grid contains a conjugated form of the verb "tener" in teal. A small square chimney is located on the left side of the roof.
