LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Dear Readers:

I know that if you read my magazine Army Weekly, you're either a fan of the Army, or are actually in the Army. The goal of this magazine is to show people what the army is like from the inside, introduce more products, and also just to be entertaining.

My goals for this project were to get a good grade, find out more about the army, and make an attractive magazine.

One of the most difficult things was to get a good topic and idea for the magazine. The topic I started with was urban legends, but I realized it would be too hard to do. I then figured out that instead, I should talk about the army, and not urban legends. The army was simpler to talk about, plus I know people who are in the army. People who I encountered were the famous military bomb squad, Col. Johnson, and Sgt. Bill.

This magazine is only for mature adults in the army, or fans of the army. I hope you enjoy reading this magazine, because more will be published in the near future, with better gadgets and vehicles. Army parents, I will also publish army magazines for your kids! There will be ads for Lego army sets, army toys, and more!

There are also some army soldiers who actually don't have much, and I would like it if readers could donate money, and food, and other supplies to these poor soldiers. I, myself, am in the army!

I decided to write, Army Weekly magazine, because my family was in the army for many years, and I thought I should carry on my families' legacy. My dad is a colonial in the army, and will soon be a general.

The short story "Lost Soldier" that Seth Burr wrote for my magazine is filled with so much detail about a lone soldier against a band of Taliban. The story seemed so real! He put in a lot of context, and it makes the reader think of the pictures, what it looks like, and the looks of the characters.

Overall, the thoughts on my magazine are that it's filled with persuasiveness, and readers will keep enjoying, and reading my magazine

Sincerely,

Seth Barker

Military Clothes

By: Karleigh Hooyman

In the fashion world, clothes are always evolving. Everyday day there is a new piece of clothing that will make your life better. In the military world, the clothes are not changing and they need to. Every day, your life is threatened and you need some protection to help you on bit. Fashion star and soldier, Colonel Justin Dempsey is helping evolve the military fashion world.

Over the last year, Hopkins has worked on recreating old uniforms into life-saving, savvy, efficient new ones. The military needed new uniforms to reinsure safety among the troops. The uniform wear created in London but many people throughout the USA and London helped design and make the uniforms.

There are over 50 different uniforms. 30 of them were old uniforms that wear improved with the work of Justin Dempsey. 20 of the uniforms wear created from scratch. Here are some of the uniforms that have been created and recreated

One of the most common uniforms is the digital camouflage. The camouflage helps hide soldiers in the sand. You often wear boots with it. The uniform is not often worn in battle but mainly when you are just at the base and need to be hidden. The uniform was improved by adding a switch that gave you even more camouflage. The uniform has visual sensors on the knees, shoulders, and back that takes a picture of the surroundings and displays the picture on the uniform. The sensors displays whatever it sees besides humans. The picture also moves when you move.

“The new digital camouflage has saved my life and the lives of my men multiple times,” stated Private John Hopkins.

Another uniform is the battle uniform. These uniforms consist of army boots, waterproof and bulletproof pants and jacket, and a full head helmet. This uniform is one of the safest uniforms you can have. It is very expensive because it takes 13 months to make and the fabric is very scare. This uniform is mainly worn in battle and in walk-arounds. This uniform comes with a vest fitted for an army dog. It keeps your best canine friend safe as well as you. The uniform was improved because the old uniform was not very protective and very heavy.

Another new uniform is the treaty uniform. This uniform is for when you have to make a peace agreement with an enemy. It has the colors of your nation. It consists of black pants with black boots. It has a leather jacket with your nation’s colors on it. It also has a peace symbol on the shoulder. The peace symbol is a universal symbol of bringing peace. This uniform is one of the uniforms that were made from scratch. There has not been a uniform that was worn for a treaty because treaties were mainly made by the leader of the county but that law has changed.

Another uniform is called the bubble uniform. This is a very new uniform and has just been allowed to be used. This uniform can be worn with up to 500 other people. When standing alone, a protective bubble come out of the helmet and spread down to your feet and stands 3 feet away from your body. It can detach from your body and can transform into any shape or size but it will still give you the safety and protection that you need. It detaches from itself at the waist when it senses another soldier near but if you don’t want it to detach, just press the button on your hip. If you do want it to detach to another person, let it open and then quickly close your eyes. You need to close your eyes because if you don’t the gyromagnetic energy the uniform takes to attach itself to another suit is very harmful to your eyes. There are goggles that help protect your eyes but they are still in high demand and getting made and it takes a lot of time to make them. The goggles would be a better idea if you are going to attach to 499 other people.

The uniforms made by Colonel Justin Dempsey will forever change the face of military clothes and save the lives of many men. The clothing line will be released to the public during the summer of 2015.

Lost Ranger

By: Seth Burr

One humid day in Iraq an elite group of Army Rangers was walking along a rushing stream of the Iraqi River. Their names were Corporal Thompson, Lieutenant Jackson, Scout Boundurant, Melee Expert Howard, EOD Technician Forest, and Sniper Jack. They were just walking down the stream to the extraction point when they made a stop to collect some water. They set down their weapons and collected some water when a monkey ran to the weapons and their only map picked them up and ran off, the army rangers chased after the monkey but in the end the monkey managed to outrun them and to escape leaving them with them leaving them with only their hands and water to make it to the extraction point.

They thought that the mission would be a pretty simple one to complete; all they had to do was walk along the stream and monitor the river for any sign of Taliban movement. They then started walk towards the extraction point when they met a cliff that was the only way to get to the extraction point by foot. The cliff had a narrow walkway and was a very steep drop. The walkway was so narrow that they had to walk one by one to get to the other side when the rocks gave way and sent Sniper Jack and Corporal Thompson tumbling towards the tree line more than two hundred feet below. Luckily they had been in the back of the line when the rocks had given way. Then when they got to the woods there were three paths down into the woods the Melee Expert Howard took the roughest looking one by himself, while Scout Boundurant and EOD Technician Forest went down the least Dangerous looking one, and Lieutenant Jackson went down the narrowest path. The Melee Expert went down the only path that didn't lead to the extraction point. When Howard went out of iraqthe path he was met with the Taliban's hideout. It was the size of the Whitehouse and was so well camouflaged that the planes and the helicopters that landed near the hideout could not see it. Then he started walking towards the Taliban's secret hideout when one of the guards noticed him but before the guard could make the signal Howard ran up to him and put him in a highly complex hold that would put him in an unconscious state. It took less than two seconds until he was lying on the ground, knocked out cold.

Then he decided that he was going to run to the tree line so that he would be able to scout the area out. He noticed that there was seventeen guards outside and that there was eight visible guards on the inside of the complex. The least amount of guards that he would have to get past would be nine because on the outside there was at least five guards that cover the entrance and there was four people who covered what seemed to be the leaders room. So he silently sneaked to the other side of the forest so that he could try to take on the rest of the Taliban's army by himself from behind. He thought that if he managed to get behind the Taliban that it would be easier to sneak up on them from behind which was true because he took two of them out but he didn't move fast enough to make it to the leader before the other troops spotted him. When they spotted him he took out them both out and then the leader came out from the room and looked at him puzzlingly because he had somehow gotten past the troops that were guarding him so easily with just his hands. The leader took a second to think about what to do next. "I am going to give you a once in a life time opportunity you can join me and the rest of the Taliban and you will live here like a god having at least ten waiters at your side at all times, all the food you can eat as long as you join the Taliban and guard me for a year than you will live alongside me and rule the rest of the Taliban and we will be the leaders of the Taliban and you will have everything you ever wanted,” said the Taliban leader. Then in two swift and fast leaps he was next to the Taliban leader and then he grabbed him and put him in a hold that knocked him out cold. Then he used the Satellite phone to call his group to pick him up and then he went home and lived happily for the rest of his life.
