LETTER FROM

Dear Readers,

I am writing to thank you for having the time to pick up my magazine and spend your hard earned money to read it. If you did pick this magazine up it probably means you love sports, but I don't want you just to watch the sports I want you to play them too. This magazine I have put a lot of hard work into making this magazine and I had a lot of fun doing it too. I want this magazine to make you think how great every sport is from basketball, to hockey, to soccer. I want you to think that you can play whatever sports you want and how you can have a lot of fun playing them with friends on teams too. I want you to think about how great sports can be so you can go out and try all the sports there are. I would also like you to see all the different sports teams out there too.

The purpose of me writing this magazine was plain and simple to make you the reader want to get outside and play nothing but sports. Sports can be an easy and fun way to get great exercise and spend time with your family. I want you to get your needed sixty minutes outside and enjoy while playing games like H-O-R-S-E or P-I-G and plus you can play catch with a football or a baseball. So what I am trying to say is to go out and EXERCISE and have FUN doing it

Some of my experiences in developing this magazine are that it is really not as easy as it sounds. With all the deadlines that you have to meet it is a wonder that I got them all done in time. I also realized that getting people to get your work done on time can be really hard too. Some of the people who I found wrote really great stories were Jacob Biese, who is the author for "The Soccer Fight", Devon Young, who wrote "The Football Injury", and Matt Hodson, who wrote "Phil Power". I really didn't see a lot of hand drawn pictures in seen as I am a digital magazine so I really couldn't say who did really good art. I also found out that money is not easy to keep track of you can end up one deadline with you over by five hundred dollars and the next deadline being under by one thousand dollars.

Some of the struggles I had with writing this magazine are that you really have to push people to get work done for you or you are never going to get what you need. Figuring out even prices were challenging too. Some people tried to take your money and some people just didn't pay enough in general. Some of the successes I had were that I made four thousand dollars a nice profit; I also had the success of writing successful stories so that I got my deadlines done in time....thank god. All in all I believe I had a pretty successful project.

This magazine is part of the world wide phenomena of sports and sports are what I tried to bring you in this magazine. So I hope you love football, baseball, basketball, and hockey, and soccer. I want you to learn about the different opportunities from playing sports in recreational leagues or school or just having fun.

I believe that in sports there are not winners and losers and if you try your best and give one hundred percent every time you are on a field, court, or diamond you can call yourself a winner and as long as you try hard and have fun, that is what sports is about. So I am asking you to go out of your comfort zone and try something new you have never done before because trying things can be really good for you.

Like I said before I had a lot of fun making this magazine and I hope you enjoyed reading it and I hope it was worth your time. If you liked the magazine I hope you subscribe to it again and again.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Mitch Lohrenz". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, looping 'M' and a long, trailing 'z'.

Editor in Chief, Breathe, Eat, and Sleep Sports

Dear Editor:

I am writing to congratulate you on your helpful tips on playing sports like a pro. I've seen a major improvement in my coordination and will recommend every sport lover or player to read this magazine. You also gave me eating and workout tips that helped me reach the peak of my physical abilities. I will read and subscribe to this magazine as much as possible. Keep making great magazines.

Sincerely,

Michael Nikodem

Dear editor,

I am writing to you today to complain about your new brand of hockey puck. They are just little plastic disks that are hollow in the middle. I tried to use them on the ice and when it hit a post, it snapped in half! What kind of puck is supposed to snap in half when it hits the post? Not a hockey puck, that's for sure. I want my money back because this was not worth the three dollars that I spent on it. It also doesn't even glide on the ice. It just skitters and hops when it hits a little patch of snow. This puck sucks, this magazine sucks, and you suck.

Sincerely,

Jacob Mulroy.
New York, New York

Dear Editor,

Thanks a lot for your advice on buying these new football cleats. I was so amazed when I put them on. They do not hurt my feet while running and they grip like there is no tomorrow. I am so happy that you recommended these cleats for me in your last issue. Just for that I am so excited to read your upcoming issues.

Thanks again for all of the help! Since you were so amazing and helped me, I will be subscribing to your magazine for a minimum of three or four full years! Thanks again!

Sincerely,

Trevor Greil

Football Injury
By: Deven Young

The Grass is low-cut and lively green. Football fans cheering and the players are getting ready to play. Friends cheering for their favorite teams and the cheerleaders are energizing the crowd.

Is what college football star David Gild,

Tomaha
wks star quarterb ack, would have
seeing if he hadn't been injured in his previous game. The Tomahawks had been playing their rivals the Cowboys when a defensive lineman, identity is being protected for the defensive lineman's safety, playing for the cowboys charged forward and drop kicked David Gild. Lucky for David the helmet he had been wearing took most of the shock. The Tomahawks coach is currently fighting over whether the game should be postponed or whether the game should be given to the Tomahawks so they can go to the Ultra Bowl, seeing as the cowboys are currently two wins and ten losses.

The 300 lb. defensive lineman was a WWTS, World Wrestling Television Show, want to be who studied and often tried to perform the highly dangerous moves he saw on television. The lineman had tried to perform other dangerous moves on his teachers, fellow students, friends, and family.

David is in the emergency room currently and is suffering from a severe migraine, what the doctors call the steam roller effect, (where the patient is flatter than paper) and a few broken bones. David says he broke the bones when the defensive lineman landed on top of him, but the counselor is looking into whether that is fact or if David would get detention for making a fat joke. There is no word from David about whether he is going to play in the Ultra bowl or if he is going to sit the rest of the year out.

The teachers are starting a fund raiser for David's surgery to get his body back to regular so he can win the Ultra Bowl and the teachers can win their bets.

The world's brightest minds are currently trying to find out how the 300lb. defensive lineman got his feet six feet and three inches in the air. So far the scientists are researching the possibility of the boy having really strong legs, but some conspiracies are going around that the defensive lineman was the son of Hulk or Superman. When asked, Hulk and Superman both denied any relations to the Defensive lineman.

This strange phenomenon is a once in a lifetime experience to see and all the people in the crowd say they are going to remember this game for all their life, and what one fan quoted "Wow! That was amazing! That quarter Back guys flatter than a pancake. I can't wait to tell my kids about this!"

Scientists are still trying to get permission from the parents and the government to dissect the boy and see what caused the boy to get so high in the sky.

The parents are fighting viciously to keep their son but it looks like the government is going to have the boy dissected so his ability can be used to create a new breed of super soldiers to take over the world and the other planets. The government is already looking for planets to attack.

In order to proceed with the dissection, the surgeons are asking that the government supply them with a saw, a large vacuum, a hose, an island, and a signed photo of Kanye West.

The Fight of the Century!

BY: Jacob Biese

Ladies and gentlemen we have just heard of a massive fight happening in Los Angeles, California. With a hurtful number of fifteen dead and over one-hundred wounded. This fight had begun after a penalty kick in a match between the L.A. Stompers and the Massachusetts Meteors. The fight began when there was a slide tackle by one of the L.A. Stompers and injuring the star player of the Meteors Jonas Jackson in the six yard box. One of the L.A. Stompers instantly ejected the call and start blaring at the ref. When it got to far the ref gave the player a red card, but the player wasn't done yet he shoved over the ref and started punching him directly into his face. Exactly at that moment the Meteors grabbed the Stomper player and pulled him away, but then the Stompers team mates decided to join and made it all out fight. Three of the L.A. stompers players have died from this horrible accident, and a five more from the Massachusetts meteors. The other nine deaths were from the crowds and the stampedes and the riot control. Luckily the injured Meteor player from the slide kick got out before the fight began. This is truly a very sad story and it all just started from a small penalty.

Top 10 Football Players

By: Blake Kalwitz

1. Tyreese Jacobson- Los Ryandenbergl Stingers, WR: his superior leaping ability and great hands make him a threat on every play.
2. Knowlton Harris- Demenville Rockets, MLB: astounding in coverage, great leader, and delivers bone-crunching hits all game, every game.
3. Jamison Harold-Jersalda Grizzlies, RB: explosive, nimble, and powerful are all the qualities you look for in a running back, Harold has all three.
4. Damion Dacreed- Holstein Cowlicks, QB: has great arm strength, out-of-this-world knowledge, and can shred a defense throughout a game.
5. Trevon Reminski- Hawkins Eagles, WR: goes up and meets the ball at its highest point, not afraid to go over the middle, and is one of the best blocking wide-outs in the game.
6. Jorman Tulley- Tallis Jets, RB: runs through tackles like nobody's business and has a raw determination that few athletes ever possessed.
7. Thresh Jalenson-Dallen Sharpshooters, CB: great sense of the field and ball-hawking skills make quarter backs terrified to throw to his man.
8. Hayes Beydes-Guener Lumberjacks, WR: although he is undersized (5'8", 165lbs) he is super quick in and out of his routes and leaves defenders in his dust.
9. Eddie Jerlander-Hillnope Supermen, QB: incredible intangibles, and an amazing arm.
10. Gennings Renolyd- Billinger Cowboys, RB: absurd athleticism, enough said.

Phil Power

By: Matt Hodson

Phil Power is a young pitcher who was born and raised in Madison, Wisconsin. He is twenty years old and is a once in a lifetime pitcher. In my opinion he is the best pitcher I have seen in my life. He throws at a speed of around 110 and has a wicked curveball.

Phil got a scholarship to Madison College for baseball. He played there for two years until he was a junior in college. At that age he decided to transfer to the MLB draft. He was predicted to be the number 1 overall pick in the 2012 MLB draft.

When the time for the draft finally came Phil was so excited to enter the draft. He showed up extra early and he was prepared for both outcomes. The first and better one is that he would be picked number one overall. The other outcome which is a worse one is that he might not even be picked in the first round.

Finally the time has come of the 2012 MLB draft. All of the players were there and ready to hopefully hear their name to be drafted. The owner of the MLB came to the microphone and announced that the first pick of the 2012 MLB draft the Seattle Cowboys select the pitcher from Madison Wisconsin Phil Power. He got out of his chair and couldn't believe what he just heard. He was filled with joy that he was picked first.

When the time came for his first ever major league game, he had never been more pumped and never had more energy as a pitcher. The Cowboys were playing the New York Big Shots. They won the World Series last year. Both of these teams have never been more prepared for a baseball game.

The pressure was on for both teams. If New York lost they would be known as the team that lost their first game after winning it all last year. If Seattle lost their star rookie pitcher Phil Power would have lost his first ever major league game.

The first batter from New York stepped up to the plate. Phil started his windup and then threw his first pitch as a pitcher in the big leagues. It went right down the middle past the batter for a strike. His first inning in the major league he threw three strikeouts in a row. Then his first at bat he smacked it out in center field for a base hit. At the end of the game he threw a perfect game. A perfect game is probably the hardest thing that a pitcher could do.

Half way through the season he has a perfect game, four no hitters, and his record is 10-0. Also his batting average is a .455 which is the best batting average for pitchers and of all players this season. Everyone is talking about how good he is and how bright his future is going to be.

His team is first in the MLB and is predicted by all of the sports casters to win the World Series. Their team record is 71-1. They have the best start in baseball history. This team went from last place last year, to the best record in baseball history.

The end of regular season came so fast for these players but it is time to start the playoffs. In the first round the Cowboys are predicted to sweep the Blue Sox. The first pitcher that the Cowboys played in the playoffs was of course Phil Power. The first game was an easy game along with the second, third, and the fourth. They advanced to the World Series.

They had to play the team that took second last year which is the Rockets. They have been prepared for this series all year. After the first six games the series is tied three to three. Phil Power pitched the final game. And pitch he did. He threw a no hitter in the World Series. He shocked the world and made baseball history once again. He was also named rookie of the year and the best player that I have seen.

Men and Women Super Extreme Diving By: Spencer Krake

There is wimpy, there is medium, there is super, there is ultimate, there is extreme and then there is super extreme. This article will be all about super extreme diving from space into a pool. There is people that want to do this and nobody knows why. This is the most extreme (or should I say SUPER EXTREME!) article you will ever read.

Some people can be CRAZY. People actually do sports so extreme that they will blow your mind. People have never done something so extreme such as diving from rockets into pools that are five to twelve feet deep. A man by the name that people may not know jumped from a distance breaking records from 10,000 miles from the sun. He survived and only had a broken arm. He received two certifications saying that he could dive again.

Another person, a woman, jumped from a distance of 9,999 ½ miles from the moon. She only had a sprained her wrist and she has the highest record for girls. She was celebrated by girls all over the world and even somewhere in the universe aliens celebrated her brave and fun journey back to earth.

The most famous diver named William J. Hubertyurt jumped from a rocket on the moon and orbited earth nine times then fell in to the world's largest pool. He was in books and magazines he got handshakes from the last three presidents. He was the most famous man in history. He was the richest man that ever lived. This man was crazy enough to get rich and famous in fifteen years. It took him ten years to orbit the moon and it took him five years to get to the moon, fall to earth, and fall into the pool with a cannonball swan dive.

Three more people turned out to be rich and famous at the same time. They do not want their name in this article. They did a triple swan dive mechanical twist. This move took years to master and hours to create the equipment. They jumped at 30,100 miles from earth. They did not take long to get to earth because they had special rocket boots that mad the moves easier and get to earth faster they were the first three people to do a three person dive. They were also the youngest people to dive from this distance. These three people should have shaken William J. Hubertyurt's hand and given a medal of enthusiastic super diving. The three people could not make it due to an explosion in their house due to an unsuspected gas leak. thankfully nobody was injured. They were all at Mc. Donald kings to eat lunch with their goldfish.

These people were all the people that made world records and they received a certificate saying that they could jump again at any given time. William J. Hubertyurt recently broke his record May 12, 2012. He jumped from Mars and landed in a pool that was not any bigger than a small puddle of water, and nineteen feet deep. And the same three people completed a triple swan dive double mechanical twist with a dash of ice cream from the moon and landed in the same pool that William landed in at exactly right when he got out of the pool. They shook his hand there, so everyone got what they wanted and again they got another certificate.

William died May 12, 2012 in a car accident after he left the pool and shook people's hands. Everybody was sad when they found out so they made a big memorial in his honor. The person who crashed into him was actually the woman's friend who assisted her on her dive.

Rest in peace William J. Hubertyurt
Born in 1983 and died in 2012.
