

Awesome Matthew

Folks say when Matthew was born he was as tough as a lion. When he was 6 he was wrestling raccoons and bears. Soon he decided to wrestle for the Olympics.

Later he got a letter from the referee.

You cannot wrestle only the best can.

Matthew said, "I'll make a deal with you.

If I win everyone can wrestle. If you win

it's your rules." "Deal," the coach said.

For the next few days he worked very hard and it was going to be hard. But he was stronger than a lion, tougher than bear, smarter than a dolphin and faster than a cheetah. It all came down to this.

He won his first, pinned him in 5 seconds.

It was the same for the rest. Now the championship. Thud, pow, bam, after all that work he won. When he got up he fell to his knees and died. But he was in the hall of fame. But people say if you listen closely you can hear him yelling on the sidelines.
