

Thomas and the Football

Have you ever heard Thomas the greatest football player? Well, folks say that the second he was born his dad got so mad because he didn't want any babies, so he chucked a football at

Thomas and Thomas jumped out of his cradle and kicked the football!

Two years later Thomas was having a football birthday party, so he invited the whole Packers team. Thomas asked them if they wanted to play football. And they said, "yes." Thomas and Aaron Rodgers won 49 to 32. Soon he became the best football player in the world. After that he got a lot better because of his big brother. When he 12 he told his parents that he was going to the Packers stadium. When he got there, the New England

Patriots were there. Then the patriots said " I heard you are the best football player ever. I challenge you to a football game." Then the next second the game was on! In the beginning of the game everybody was scoring as fast as a cheetah. Soon it was tied 126 to 126 in overtime. The Packers had to do a hail Mary to win the game. Thomas was the wide receiver. They chucked the ball to Thomas in the touchdown. He didn't know if he could catch this, then out of nowhere he odelled the ball! Bam! went his head on the ground. Apparently, he hit his head so hard on the ground he died. People say that if you go to a football game you might just hear the ball hitting Thomas's three fingers as he was falling back into the touchdown.
